

Appositive
Issues :-/

John, who was not listen to the teacher, was bad.

The floor, covered with mud
and gum, was dirty.

Grace, a daring swimmer,
swam deep into the ocean.

Jack, who plays sports,
is my best friend.

The guy, tall and mysterious,
gave off a weird feeling.

Libby is in Mexico, at a small cozy beach house.

The man, in a black suit,
looked scary.

The child slept in a bed,
a twin sized bed.

The bird, was in a giant
brown tree, flew away.

I helped wipe off the desks, after I did my school work.

Ellie sat in her chair, blue and gray with a funky design.

The boy sat next to a tree,
a maple tree.

The most exciting, but also freakishly scary, roller coaster
is Top Thrill Dragster.

The Christmas lights, bright and cheery, were finally hung!

The dancers, at The Ballet Theater of Ohio, looked for a new theater.

My dad, who won the championship, is a good golfer.

The rug, although 15 years old, was still used often.

The boy ran through the mall, with glistening displays that were pleasing to look at.

The bird, was in a giant
brown tree, flew away

It was raining while I was in a class, language arts.

The red car, old and rusty,
sat in the driveway.

The dog, a beagle chewed
on a bone.

The ship, a sailboat
sailed across the water.

The bear, big, brown,
and scary, attacked.

The actors did an amazing job performing in front of a thousand people, The crowd was very pleased.

The night sky, in Alaska, was filled with stars.

This Christmas was, icy,
beautiful, a winter wonderland,
and cold.

The bird soared across the sky
creating a beautiful rainbow.

The dog sat down, on his owners lap.